For me, the field of medicine was the most sublime intersection of science, discovery, wonder and compassion for humanity. It is the most noble and exalted of human pursuits with the most consequential effects directly affecting the lives of people around me.

This practice is patient focused. I do not mean to deploy a cliché - we really do a lot more than any other medical practice would do. We are essentially on a concierge service pattern without charging for or advertising as such.

My philosophy of care is to do the best I can every time, all the time for every patient, so help me God.
